COMMENTS

What other disability-related information could you benefit from learning about?

How to understand and make accommodations in a remote working world.

The process for requesting an accommodation and supporting staff in navigating any requests.

What did you like best about the training?

The stats were quite helpful, and I learned more than what I thought I knew about disabilities.

The knowledge of what a disability is. Really helped me.

The statistics around employment, etc. The amount of people that identify.

Learning the statistics about how effective people with disabilities are.

Bonnie is very engaging as well as knowledgeable and experienced with disabilities in her own life. She's the kind of person who I would want to talk to if I needed advice.

What did you like least about the training?

No real-time for Q&A which tends to be fascinating information.

What were the key takeaways from this session?

The business value of having people with disabilities in our workforce.

Microsoft product was amazing and have a different view of AI and what it can accomplish. Also, the retail ads made me think differently about how advertising can be so effective.

Inclusive culture = increased morale = increased productivity!

The cost of accommodations only being $500, I assumed it would be higher.

What could we have done better?

Cheat sheet handouts for stats maybe?

Any additional feedback?

Eye opening!

Grateful for the insights and educational experience.
